NEW steering parts for applications with ILS axle

Vapormatic is pleased to introduce a new range of front axle parts for John Deere applications with Independent Link Suspension. This innovative design incorporates proven suspension design with mechanical front-wheel drive axle components that use state-of-the-art technology specifically for heavy equipment usage. The ILS system gets more power to the ground because the front tires maintain ground contact pressure. This improves field and transport ride plus increases ballasting flexibility and drastically decreases the tendency to power hop.

The introduction of these parts represents our commitment to providing economical and comprehensive solutions for products later in the lifecycle.

Sourced from specialist manufacturers, this range of parts are manufactured to OE specifications and is backed up by our market leading Vapormatic 12 months parts and labour warranty.
